Edwards 'Runs With City Hare, Barks With Country Hounds,' Says Battle Booster Crockett

Paid Political Advertisement
(From Richmond Times-Dispatch of Wednesday, May 11, 1949).

Delegate Paul Crockett, of Yorktown, charged last night that the sales tax program of Horace H. Edwards amounts to "running with the city hare, while barking with the country hounds."

Of Francis Pickens Miller, another candidate for Governor in the Democratic primary, Crockett said "this newly arisen Roderick" had a record of "negligence and inattention to duty" as a member of the Virginia House of Delegates in 1938 and 1940 session.

Crockett's blasts at Edwards and Miller came in an address he prepared for delivery over WRVA and two other radio stations last night in behalf of the candidacy of State Senator John S. Battle, another aspirant for the Democratic nomination.

Battle's long record in the General Assembly, he said, is "liberal without being radical — conservative without being reactionary, and there is not a more sincerely admired and universally trusted figure in Virginia's public life today than John Battle."

Arnold Ruled Out

But the Yorktown legislator devoted most of his wordage to Miller and Edwards. He said the fourth candidate, Remmie L. Arnold, "is not now a serious contender."

Examining Edwards' record as member of the House of Delegates, he said the Richmond candidate, "consistently opposed any legislation that would have liberalized Virginia's obsolete annexation law, in the interest of the counties."

Crockett also noted Edwards "failed to vote for" such farm measures as the State 1'38 "soil Conservation Act, or the 1938 bill to establish lime grinding plants in Eastern Virginia. Meanwhile, he added, Edwards voted twice (1934 and 1936) for "legislation to legalize gambling on horse racing" and voted against the 1938 bill to outlaw "that one-armed bandit, the slot machine."

Edwards' proposed 2 per cent sales tax would be "pyramided upon all our other taxes, not reducing by 1 per cent any of our other heavy tax burden," Crockett charged.

"Pill Sugarcoated"

"To sectionally sugarcoat this bitter tax pill his spokesman in the rural areas say to the farmers that feedstuffs, seed, fertilizer, farm machinery and so forth will of course be exempted from the tax—witness Senator Charles Moses' statement in the Appomattox paper of last week — while at the same time his spokesmen in the cities are saying that most foods, article of clothing, office and factory machinery and supplies, trucks, etc., will most certainly be exempted from the tax.

"It will be interesting to observe the final result of this 'running with the city hare, while barking with the country hounds.'"

Crockett recalled that former Congressman Clifton Woodrum, of Roanoke, last week commended Edwards' sales tax plan as one which would involve only "a penny here, and a penny there" in a pro-Edwards speech.

"Millions in Woe"

"This 'penny here and there' tax," Crockett added, "would cost the average farm family $60 a year; the average laboring man $50 a year; the average merchant and professional man $100 in cash and a million in woe. While these sums might be considered 'pennies' by Mr. Woodrum, who as president and paid lobbyist for the American Plant Food Council, a deodorized and sweeter sounding name for the fertilizer trust, pockets a salary of $36,000 per year, it is not pin money to the average Virginian."

Turning to Miller's "singular" record in the House, Crockett said Miller "did not vote for" 1940 legislation" to extend and strengthen unemployment compensation laws," nor for 1938 legislation "providing financial aid for the aged, the blind and for dependent children—the very cornerstone of our public welfare legislation."

He cited other instances where Miller voted against school and teacher retirement legislation and added:

"It is astounding to find that Delegate Miller . . sat in the House for two sessions and neglected to vote at all on approximately one-half of the legislation presented him. It would appear that the good people of Fairfax became wearied of this negligence and inattention to duty of Delegate Miller, for in the general election of 1941 he was defeated for re-election to the House by a Republican in a normally Democratic county."

Scoffs at Miller

Crockett scoffed at Miller's attacks on "the State Democratic organization which he delights in calling 'the machine.' " Crockett said: "The people know that this so-called 'machine' is simply the organized democracy of Virginia which has for decades past given this State honest, constructive and economically sound government, free from taint of demagoguery, oppresion, or the betrayal of public trust. . . .

"The people of Virginia are not going to trade it in for any 'new machine' of either Miller or the Edwards make and model, both of which would be untried and untested both as to vehicle and as to driver. . . ."

Crockett said Miller would create a "brand new machine" with a "hodge-podge of politically incompatible back-seat drivers," This would ride "roughshod over the legislative branch of our State government, scattering willynilly from the road all of our appointed public officials, regardless of the length of the value and the public approval of their service," he added.

Farm Buying Power Still Shows Gains

Increase Well Above Cost of Living Rate

The current drop in living costs has given the average city wageearner approximately the same buying power today that he enjoyed in June, 1946, final month of OPA. Though the farmer's buying power has edged off with the drop in food prices it is bumping against government price supports, and still shows a gain that is well over double the increase in the cost of living, according to a chart study of our ten-year-old war boom, made by the family economics bureau of Northwestern National Life Insurance company.

Ten years ago last winter you could buy a new four-door sedan for $825, sirloin steak was 39 cents a pound, milk averaged 12½ cents a quart, and you could build a five-room modern house for around $3,000—but we had 10 million unemployed. Then European rearmament orders sparked our recovery from a nine-year-old depression, the study recalls.

The above chart plots the course of the 10-year war boom. In January, 1939, America had 10 million unemployed and 44 million at work. Annual net income per farm was $702. Industrial wages averaged $24 a week, an annual rate of $1,248.

After an even 10 years of recovery, boom, inflation, and tapering off, the score stands as follow: Net annual income per farm 300 per cent higher—it was $702 in 1939, reached $2,915 in 1948, and had sagged to an annual rate of $2,800 by January, 1949. Weekly industrial wages up 130 per cent—from $24 in January of '39 to approximately $55 in January of '49. Living costs 71 per cent higher than 10 years ago, after nearly a four-point drop in the last few months. Finally, about three million unemployed—a normal "float", as economists call it.

Wage rates show a gain of 26 and a half per cent since June, 1946, while the cost of living index now stands just 23 per cent higher than in that final month of OPA. The actual living cost increase has been somewhat less than 26 per cent, the study says, since the government index naturally makes no allowance for over-ceiling prices which were general in the latter months of OPA; thus the wage-earner's paycheck of today buys him as much or slightly more than his paycheck of June, 1946, the study finds.

Percentage increases in worker paychecks do not reflect sharp additional gains made in so-called "fringe" payments during the past decade, such as more vacations, holidays, sick-leave, pension programs, etc., the study points out.

REGULATION TO FIX THE SEASON FOR HUNTING DEER STATEWIDE; BAG LIMIT IN YORK COUNTY AND REGULATING USE OF DOGS FOR DEER HUNTING IN NELSON COUNTY.

Pursuant to a proposal authorized by this Commission April 1, 1949 and published as required by law, the following regulation was adopted at a meeting of this Commission at Richmond, Virginia, April 29, 1949:

The state-wide season for hunting deer shall open November 20 and close January 5, both dates inclusive.

Except, however, the closing date in the counties of Bland, south of Wolf Creek and west of U. S. Highway Nos. 21 and 52 starting from where they cross at Wolf Creek at Rocky Gap (other sections of Bland closed); Botetourt; Craig; Giles east of New River (other sections of Giles closed); Grayson; Lee; Roanoke north of Highway No. 11, except Haven's Refuge (other sections of Roanoke closed); Scott; Smyth; Tazewell south of top of Clinch Mountain (other sections of Tazewell colsed); Washington; Wise, including Glades Refuge; and Wythe, shall be November 22.

The closing date in the counties of Alleghany, Augusta, Frederick, Nelson west of the Southern Railway tracks; Page, Rockingham; Rockbridge; Shenandoah; and Warren shall be November 23.

The closing date in the counties of Bath and Highland shall be November 26, and the closing date in Campbell county shall be November 29.

(In Nansemond County, by an act of the General Assembly the open deer season is October 1— November 30).

Provided, further, it shall be unlawful to hunt deer at anytime in the counties of Amherst (Except east of the Southern Railway tracts); Arlington; Bedford; Bland, except south of Wolf Creek and west of U. S. Highway Nos. 21 and 52 starting from where they cross Wolf Creek at Rocky Gap); Buchanan; Carroll; Clarke; Culpeper; Dickenson; Elizabeth City; Fairfax; Fauquier; Floyd; Franklin; Giles, except east of New River; Greene; Henry; Loudoun; Madison; Montgomery; Northampton; Orange; Patrick; Prince William; Pulaski; Rappannock; Roanoke, except north of Highway No. 11, exclusive of Haven's Refuge; Russell and Stafford.

The bag limit in York County shall be one buck a day and two buck a season, and it shall be unlawful to hunt deer with dogs in that section of Nelson county lying west of the Southern Railway tracks.

All parts of regulations in conflict with the foregoing are hereby rescinded.

This regulation shall become effective July 1, 1949.

By order of the Commission of Game and Inland Fisheries.

Beverley W. Straus, Jr.,
Chairman.

Poultry House Cleaner

A superior poultry house cleaning method has now been found—cleaning with a high-pressure sprayer. As shown here, the high-pressure spray actually pulverizes the dirt and drippings and blasts them away. Food Machinery and Chemical Corporation developed the sprayer that is doing the cleaning. It is said to do a better and cheaper cleaning job, faster and easier.

Hormones May Limit Frost Damage in Time

American apple growers, usually hard hit financially by late spring frosts will soon be able to avoid that obstacle. A combination of tracers (radioactive atoms) and hormones may make it possible to keep apple buds closed until the cold season has passed—thus saving the industry millions of dollars lost annually through damaged fruit. A spray would be used to cover fruit and prevent freezes.

Business inventories showed an increase during March.

Home Economics Chapter News

Thirty-eight girls from the Appomattox Chapter of the Future Homemakers of America, attended the Longwood Federation of F. H. A. Clubs, which was held at Cumberland May 4.

The Federation is made up of chapters from Amelia, Appomattox, Cumberland, Farmville, Blackstone, Crewe, Burkeville and Pamplin.

An interesting program and entertainment was presented, with each chapter contributing a part. Then the business meeting was held. During the meeting, officer candidates were presented by each chapter to attend the State Convention, which will be held at Fisherville, Va., June 20 - 24, 1949.

Appomattox presented as their candidate Betsy Wheeler, who was introduced and qualifications given by Jean Moore. Betsy Wheeler was elected by the Federation to go to the convention as its candidate for a state officer of the F. H. A. The election will be held at the State Convention in June.

Rebecca Rush was appointed to serve on the state nominating committee for the election of State F. H. A. officers.

A picnic dinner was served on the campus of Cumberland High School.

Miss Easley Shuford, County sponsor of the F. H. A., accompanied the girls.

What Did You Do?

You were an Air Raid Warden walking the streets to guard your country from "slant-eyed monkeys."

Of course you collected for the Red Cross, Salvation Army, United War Chest and other charaties.

Wasn't it a bore standing in line for butter, never having enough meat and cutting down on everything in general?

Yes, we civilians sure had a tough war, but what about that 22-year old at McGuire with both legs off — that boy next door in Roanoke suffering from shell shock. You don't have to take my word or anyone else's, go to these hospitals and see these boys who are there for your sake and mine and ask them what they have been doing lately- their answer will be this, "I've been making POPPIES."

It is a simple statement but it isn't simple to the veterans. They get paid by the American Legion for making these poppies and the money received by the Women on the streets and through the schools is used for the rehabilitation of veterans and their families.

Sure, we did without plenty, but don't you think you can give every penny you can give to these hospitalized boys? Don't walk past the women of the Appomattox Auxiliary 104 without buying a POPPY. And by the way, remember the poppy with the white sticker is positively the Only Official Poppy made by the distabled veteran.

"Give til it hurts—they did!"
